

Somewhere under the sea, there [si][ˈʌndə]
“海底下”
[ˈmeni][kaɪnd]
“許多種類” live many kinds of fish. Among (在他們之中)
[əˈmʌŋ]
(刺尾魚)
[tæŋ fiʃ]
them are a family of blue tang fish.
 Dory is a cute small blue tang fish. She has big eyes and a voice “像天使的聲音”
[ˈendʒl][ˈvɔɪs]
[wɜːld][ˈbest][θɪŋ]
“世界上最棒的事物” like an angel. Her parents love “父母親”[ˈperənts] her so much. They think that she is the best thing in the world. But [sun]“很快地” very soon, they find something [faɪnd][ˈsʌmθɪŋ]
“發現她有些
不對勁”
[rɒŋ]
wrong with her: she has a very [ˈmeməri]“記憶” bad memory.
 Because Dory has a very bad memory, she keeps forgetting “持續忘記”
[ki:p][fəˈget]
 things. She forgets songs her parents taught her. She even forgets “甚至”[iˈvən] [ˈtiːf][ˈtɔːt]
* teach, taught
“教” what other fish said to her only a
[ˈɒnli][əˈfjuː]
“只有幾秒之前”
[ˈsekənd][əˈgo] few seconds ago. School teachers become angry when they find that Dory keeps asking the same [ki:p][æsk][sem] “持續問相同的
問題”[ˈkwɛstʃən]
“鄰居”[ˈneɪbə]
questions. Neighbors become un-[ˈentə]
“進入” happy when Dory enters the